KNOW THY DESTINY.
Madame E. F. Thompson, the great English astrologist, clairvoyant and psychometrist, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thompson possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she demonstrates the very features of the person you are to marry and by an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychometre, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive a picture and desired information by return mail. All communications sacredly confidential. Address in confidence, Madame E. F. Thompson, P. O. box 223, Hudson, N. Y.

Nigger-Doodle-Do.

O Yankee-Doodle-Do is the tune we all did once delight in.
Twirl do to fiddle, dance or sing, and just the thing for fighting.
But in these modern times, you see, it comes so nation handy.

To change the good old tune we loved, to Nigger-Doodle-Do.

It seems to suit the curious taste of people we call shoddy.

And shoddy people, now-a-days, embraces everybody.

Old Abe loved jokes and he loved song, and he loved good old brandy.

But better than all this, he loved—Nigger-Doodle-Do.

He said the many had been lost upon the field of battle.

That he had men enough, he knew, to make his cannon rattle.

And with a cabinet like his, composed of men like Andy.

He'd whip the Rebels to the tune, of Nigger-Doodle-Do.

He had some noted horses out, as clear emerged from stable.

And with them he would whip the South, that is if he was able.

He had them groomed and highly fed, and trained them all so handy.

He'd bow their necks and curl their tails to—Nigger-Doodle-Do.

There was Barbriidge—tho' a scrubby nag—could snore, and cut high capers—his name was often seen, we know.

In all the daily papers—at Saltville, when his shot gave out, he started down Big Sandy.

And as he hoped for old Kentucky, sung—Nigger-Doodle-Do.

The old wheel horse—called Sherman, went down South and worked his wonders.

He made the women start and scream with cannon's awful thunders.

He bent his way, clear to the ocean; On Georgia's plains, so sandy.

And marched his army to the tune of—Nigger-Doodle-Do.

Ben Butler is a bully beast and 'twas a wonder—pity.

That he should trot around and rule the Crescent City.

turned and rode slowly back toward home.

The meadows, grain-fields and forest were ablaze with the crimson and gold of the setting sun, and the birds flitting out from the deep, shady nooks of the woods, were chirping their songs.

I had not forgotten Charlie Kilbrough's mysterious warning, and I held in my horse until twilight should come upon us.

The sun disappeared, and nature's twilight calm was broken, only by the twitter of the birds and our own voices. We soon reached a part of the road which was unusually quiet, and my companion ceased talking and seemed to become suddenly sad. On our left was an impenetrable forest, with underbrush of black and raspberries filling the interstices between the trunks of trees. On our right stretched a large field, from which the grain had recently been cut, leaving nothing to intercept the view over the whole space.

We had reached a point midway between the wood that skirted this field, and Kate had not spoken a word for ten minutes, when suddenly she threw up her hands, as if to hide from her sight some object out in the field, and her horse bounded across the road, and against mine, almost upsetting me. This was more of a surprise than I was prepared for, but instantly recovering my presence of mind, I seized Kate's bridle, while her horse trembled and plunged so, it was with the greatest effort I could hold him. This all occurred in one-fourth of the time it takes to tell it, and when I had time to look out into the field, to see what had so frightened my companion, there was positively nothing there but the short stubble in which not even a chicken could hide from our view. Kate had dropped hands, and was gazing at a spot in this stubble field, forty or fifty feet from us.

"What is the matter, Miss Kate, what do you see?"

The sound of my voice appeared to recall her, and she turned to me quickly, and asked:

"Did you see nothing there?" pointing to the spot.

"No, nothing but the stubble and certainly there is nothing so formidable looking about that."

"Do not laugh at me, Mr. Dallson, she said solemnly, I saw something and my horse saw it, but it matters not; we will say nothing more about it now. Our horses are rested; let us ride a little faster."

We struck our horses and Kate's springing into the middle of the road, dashed off at a rapid gallop; I followed, and in a few minutes after, the horses were delivered into black Tom's hands and we were seated on the porch, laughing and talking, as if nothing unusual had happened.

After supper we again took our seats on the porch, and Kate, without waiting for me mention the singular occurrence, gave me an explanation of it.

About two years ago, said she, I was riding up the road we came this afternoon; brother Dick was with me; we had been out beyond the tree where we turned back to-day; as we came past the field where my horse was frightened, I saw something which attracted my attention out in the field; the sun had been down for some time, but I could see distinctly as I could in broad day light. I stopped my horse to examine the singular object more closely and to my horror, I saw the head and shoulders of a person suspended in the air, fully three yards from the ground; it was in a stubble-field then, as now, and there was no place about where any one could hide; and yet there was absolutely nothing supporting this head and shoulders of a person as clearly defined as I ever saw in my life, but nothing more; it remained thus for at least two minutes, and then vanished away or sunk into the ground—I could not tell which—as mysteriously as it appeared. I have seen it frequently since, and it is the same head and shoulders, and appears in exactly the same spot. No person has ever seen it but myself, it does not appear to any one else. I can not explain it. I have told you all I know concerning it. I have become almost accustomed to see it, and it no longer frightens me, but I did not expect to see it this afternoon. My horse must see it, for he always acts as he did this afternoon; but it never frightens my brother's horse, or any person's who may accompany me.

This was the mystery then, and one too, I could not explain to Kate or to myself. She waited for me to reply after she had finished, but I knew not what to say. I admitted at last that it was very strange, and that I believed she actually saw what she had described, and tried for an hour to convince her that it was an optical illusion, and that her horse had been frightened the first time she saw the apparition by her jerking up the reins suddenly as she had done that afternoon, and from association became frightened whenever he came to the spot. She listened attentively to all I said, and then told me, this did not explain any part of the mysterious phenomenon to her mind, and then asked me:

"Do you believe I saw what I described to you?"

Yes, Miss Kate, I answered unhesitatingly; I really believe you saw it, but I can not explain it to you nor to my own mind.

The sensations I felt that night, while passing that field, were anything but pleasant.

A few evenings after this occurred, I again pressed my suit for Kate's hand, and to my unspeakable joy I was accepted. She then told me that every one of the gentlemen, whom she had rejected, had been at different times her escort, when the apparition appeared to her, and that instead of attempting a scientific explanation of the phenomena, they had invariably treated it with levity and incredulity; and that she had made a vow, that she would never consent to marry any man who did not believe she saw the strange apparition; feeling as she did, that she could not live happily with a person who could not sympathize with her in this hallucination. And thus I won the belle of the blue-grass region.

The undersigned represent an Association of gentlemen who propose to unite their means and influence, for the establishment and maintenance of a first-class Weekly Journal, to be published in the city of Lexington, Kentucky, the first number of which will be issued on the first of May next, or sooner, if possible.

In the columns of the Home Journal will be discussed every important question that bears on the development of the resources of our State, the improvement of our Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts, the perfection of our Educational Methods, and the cultivation of a taste for a pure and elevated Literature.

A corps of experienced writers, eminent in the Departments of Agriculture, Science, Literature and Education have been engaged as regular contributors; and subscribers are assured that it will be a dignified and useful paper. In a word—the Home Journal will be a paper for the Farm, the Shop, the Counting Room, and the Family Circle.

It will be issued weekly, in quarto form, and will be printed on fine paper, and with clear, distinct type. Subscription price $3 per annum, payable on receipt of first number.

Jas. R. Marrs, late publisher Danville Advocate, and Jas. J. Miller Sec. Ky. State Agricultural Society.

All communications should be addressed to "publishers of the Farmers' Home Journal, Lexington, Ky."

The people of Pendleton are calling loudly on Richard Stowers, of that county, to become a candidate for the State Senate. No better selection could be made, and we hope he may be induced to accept the post.

It is stated on good authority that as many as 25,000 negroes have left the Carolinas and Georgia, going to the further West. So great has been felt to be the loss of this productive industry, that steps have been taken, in some instances to arrest the tide of emigration westward. In Charlotte, North Carolina, a society has been formed by the freedmen to discourage their race from leaving their former homes, and the lands with the tillage of which they have become familiar by a life time of experience.

The authorities of Princetown College are about to elect a victim for the prize of the Jerome medal. They make the first choice of the gentleman in question, subject, however, to the final decision of the best faculty.

A temperance society in Georgia fell through because the members would not give up blackberry wine.

A ROMANCE OF CRIME.—The usual quiet village of Blandville Ky., was disturbed by an incident of great moment the other day, and one which forcibly illustrates the old saying that "murder will out" and "a woman can not keep a secret." About eleven years ago there came to this county, and settled about five miles from this town, a man named Hudson, of South Carolina, in which State he abandoned his wife and three children. One of his neighbors, named Belcher, was the father of two buxom daughters, between the younger one and Hudson, there sprung up an intimacy, which resulted in the seduction of the girl. Nine years ago, this month, Hudson committed suicide, and was found in the garret of his house, hanging by the neck, his knees touching the floor. He must have committed the deed some four or five days before his body was discovered, as the remains had commenced to decay, and one side of his face and ear were much eaten away by the rats. A coroner's inquest was held over the body and a verdict of suicide returned. One of the jurors, however, noticed something like a piece of iron in the ear of the deceased, but did not examine it very minutely, nor did he mention the fact for some time after.

The younger Belcher girl married a man named McNabb, with whom she had since lived very happily, notwithstanding she became a mother in a few months after marriage. The family prospered; the elder sister likewise marrying, and was much respected, none of the neighbors having aught to say against either of the girls. But there was a skeleton in both of the households; and the sisters, as they plodded along the journey of life, were continually harassed by fears and doubts, each striving in vain to lay the visions which haunted their minds.

A few weeks since, during a fit of despondency, the younger sister divulged to a neighbor the terrible secret which had so long weighed upon her conscience and made her life a torment, it was that herself, her sister and her husband, had murdered Hudson. Her story was, that in company with McNabb and her elder sister, she called upon Hudson, and telling him of her situation, unbraided him with her betrayal. Hudson attempted to laugh away the affair, and for the first time informed her of his being married. This incensed both the sisters and McNabb, all of whom commenced an assault upon him, as had been previously agreed upon in case he refused to render justice to the girl he had so foully wronged. He was easily overpowered, and killed, by driving into his ear a portion of the iron spindle belonging to a spinning wheel. After the murder was accomplished, the body was taken to the loft of the cabin, and left hanging by the neck, as it was found several days thereafter.

The woman to whom this fearful secret was imparted, divulged the facts before the grand jury at the present term of the Circuit Court, who at once found a bill against all of them, and on yesterday the parties were arrested, brought to this town and placed in jail.

The women are both decidedly good looking, but their countenances seem to indicate that they have no hope!

This is one of the most singular cases that has ever come before any court in Kentucky, and shows that oft times "truth is stranger than fiction."

At East Lulworth, Mass., two years ago, a woman lost her wedding-ring while engaged in domestic labors. A few days ago the identical ring was found in a large potato she was peeling. The potato was grown in a field near the house, and probably had its eye on the ring all the time.

A suit was tried at Binghamton, N. Y., last week, in which a lady brought an action for assault and battery against a young man, the accusation being that he kissed her while occupying the same seat in a railroad car, she being asleep at the time, with her head resting on his shoulder. The jury failed to agree.

Horace Greeley says the darkest day in a man's earthly career is that wherein he first fancies that there is some easier way of getting a dollar than by squarely earning it.

Good Exorcism.—The Times evidently believes that the mass of its readers are of that class who allow others to think for them; and hence its frequent parade of great names in favor of the ratification by the South of the recent legislation of Congress.

Yesterday morning, under the head of "good enough," it gave a list of late confederate generals, who it says, "approve"—mark the language—"approve" the Sherman reconstruction bill.

Among these is Gen. Lee, who has not expressed an opinion at all, nor given advice, and whose political views, as is distinctly stated in a communication republished in the same issue of the Times, are unknown.

Gen. Breckinridge heads the list:—will the Times give its authority for claiming him as approving the Sherman bill? His name was used in this way by some of the precipitation organs before he could have heard of the passage of that bill; and we deny that he has expressed such views, as attributed to him.

Major Gen. Ethel Barkdale occupies a prominent place in the list of the Times. There was but one Gen. Barkdale in the Confederate Army, and he fell at Gettysburg, with his back to the field and his feet to the foe—fell covered with glory at the head of his charging column—fell there, and made his one of the few, the immortal names that were not born to die. The Mr. Barkdale who, for effect, is dubbed Major General by the Times, is, we presume, the editor of the Mississippi Clarion, a very worthy and respectable gentleman, and during the war a member of the Confederate Congress, but never a general.

Others of the distinguished gentlemen cited by the Times as approving the recent acts for the radicalization of the South, have not, we have reason to believe, expressed any opinion; and still others, very respectable generals, are very poor statesmen certainly, and their political opinions are worth no more than the military views of the village politicians would be.

HISTORY OF MORGAN'S CAVALRY.—This is a superb work of 578 pages, neatly bound, written by Basil W. Duke, the trusted friend of Morgan, and his most able and efficient officer in the many battles which the gallant horsemen of Gen. Morgan fought and won from Chattanooga to the Ohio. The author is certainly a ready and vigorous writer, who carries the reader from the first to the last page, with a constantly increasing interest. He describes, with rare felicity, the many and strange scenes through which his command passed in their eventful career, and relates many incidents connected with their long and arduous marches, which are all portrayed in a lively and attractive manner; and which, while enlisting the reader's attention, are found in no other work. At the same time, a strict and scrupulous adherence to fact, in the various descriptions of military operations, is observed. Altogether, it is one of the most entertaining and thrilling narrative of historical events of the late war which has come within our notice; and we believe no one who will read fifty pages of this volume, would desist until the last page had been reached. But it is impossible to give anything like a correct or adequate description of so interesting and useful a work here. We would advise those who wish to obtain a full and complete knowledge of the work and appreciate its merits, to read it.

Harrison, Scott and Robertson Counties form a Senatorial District. A convention to nominate a democratic candidate for Senator, for this district, will be held in Cynthiana, on the second Monday in this month. A full delegation will be present from all the counties. Scott county, as we learn from the "Times," will have a representation. The following gentlemen form the delegation for Harrison County:

P. Wherrett, A. J. Beale, T. A. Frazer, N. E. Offutt, Henry Duncan, L. F. Struve, Sam Levesque, Thos. Smith, J. Levi Patterson, Milton Smith, F. G. Ashbrook, W. H. Roberts, W. H. Forsythe and Mat Lair.

AN AFFAIR OF HONOR.—Last Monday evening Mr. Ike Hanson and Noah S. Alexander, came down to Townsend Railroad Bridge, and fought out a small affair between them. This bridge is on the line between Harrison and Bourbon, and they fought on the island just above the bridge. Mr. Hanson sent the challenge and Mr. Alexander accepted it and chose Smith & Wesson's pistols, at a distance of ten paces only. Mr. J. Bashford was second to Alexander, and A. M. Kiser to Hanson. At precisely half past 4 o'clock the parties were ready for business, and the pistols being in readiness, and after shaking hands, stepped off the distance, wheeled, and within the signal of one, two, three, fire. Each pistol exploded. From the surgeon in attendance, we learned that neither of the principals were injured. An enquiry was made of Hanson if he was satisfied, and his reply being in the negative, preparations were made for another round, which resulted as the first, and again Mr. Hanson was called on to know if he was satisfied, and again he answered in the negative. The fifth round was fired, when it was found that Hanson was severely wounded in the hip. The seconds then brought the difficulty to an amicable arrangement, and the principal shook hands and laughed over the affair with as much nonchalance, as if they had been to a corn-shucking or attol'ing the circus.

Mr. Alexander, also slightly wounded, is a young man about 21 years of age, with sufficient courage for all purposes necessary for this life. Mr. Hanson is about 25 years of age, and similarly endowed. Both these gentlemen have shown themselves equal to every emergency, and now that they have escaped serious injury, we hope that peace and good will may grow up between them and the spirit and energy which they have exhibited in this affair, may be turned into a channel which will result in good to themselves and their fellow-citizens.

The county convention to nominate a candidate for the Legislature, will not meet on the second Monday in this month as was published in our last issue, but on the second Monday in June. It was a mistake of the writer of the notice. Our Democratic friends in the county will please take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

There will be a convention of the Democracy of Harrison on the second Monday in June, at Cynthiana, to nominate a candidate to represent this county in the next Legislature. It is desirable for the district committee, to call primary meetings in their respective precincts and appoint delegates to meet in this convention. The number of delegates will be based on the vote given for Duvall for clerk, allowing one delegate for every fifty votes, and one for every fraction over twenty-five. This will give Cynthiana 8; Leesburg 4; Cason's 4; Rutland 2; Claysville 4; Buena Vista 3; Colemanville 4. By order of the executive committee.

Harrison county, April 30, '67. Mr. Editor:

In response to a call from "many voters" in your issue of April 25, I have to say that if it be the wish of the Democracy of Harrison, I shall represent them, I will with many doubts of my ability to do so properly, accept that, as I have all other acts of a majority of my party, and exert my best efforts in behalf of truth and constitutional liberty.

Respectfully,
J. A. Dills.

The Democratic precinct convention of the Cynthiana precinct assembled at the Court House on Saturday the 24th of April, pursuant to a call heretofore made by the Democratic Executive Committee of the precinct. The convention was called to order by J. H. Dills, Esq., and E. W. Martin chosen chairman. The object of the meeting being stated to nominate two candidates to fill the offices of Magistrate, and a candidate for Constable, at the ensuing May election. Wesley Barrett and Mat. Lair were nominated without opposition as candidates for the Magistracy. James C. Wickliffe, was put in nomination for Constable, and it being suggested that Wm. B. Glave had declared himself a candidate for Constable, upon motion, a committee was appointed to wait upon Mr. Glave and see if he would submit his name to the convention. The committee after having seen him, reported that he declined allowing his name to go before the convention. Mr. Wickliffe was then nominated for Constable. Upon motion the Convention adjourned.

C. W. West, E. W. Martin,
Secretary. Chairman.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING AT BUENA VISTA.—Pursuant to a call, the Democracy of Buena Vista precinct, assembled in primary convention on Saturday, the 26th inst.

On motion Thomas Beasman, was called to the chair and Wm. Smith appointed Secretary, on motion it was Resolved, That we heartily approve the action of the Democratic county convention, which assembled in Cynthiana in February, in recommending I. T. Martin, Esq., for the State Senate, and instructing the delegates appointed to cast their votes for him.

Resolved, That J. T. Smith, G. D. Evans and John White, be appointed as delegates to a Democratic convention to be held on the Second Monday in June, to nominate a candidate to represent the county in the Legislature.

Resolved, That our delegates be instructed to vote for J. H. Dills, as our first choice.

On motion, B. A. Whiteker and L. N. Mullins were unanimously nominated as candidates for the office of Magistrates in this district and P. Florence for Constable.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the "Cynthiana News".

W. B. Smith, Thomas Beasman,
Secretary. Chairman.

Next Tuesday, the 6th of May, Circuit Court, Spring Term, convenes in Cynthiana.

For the Cynthiana News.
To Miss Bettie T., of Paris, Ky.
The conflict is over, the struggle is past.
I have looked, I have loved, I have whispered my last.
Now back to the world, let fate do its worst.
On the heart, that for thee, each devotion hath nursed.
To thee its best feelings were trusted away.
And life hath hereafter not one to betray;
Yet not in resentment, thy love I resign.
I blame not, upbraid not, one motive of thine.
I ask not what changes have come over thy heart.
I seek not what changes have doomed us to part.
I but know thou hast told me to love thee no more.
And still must obey, though once did adore.
Farewell, then, thou loved one, oh, loved but to well,
Too deeply, too blindly, for language to tell.
Farewell, thou hast trampled love's flame in the dust.
Hast torn from my bosom its hope and its trust.
Yet if thy life's current would blissfully swell,
I would pour out my love in the last fond farewell.

Elder Jno. A. Gano will commence a protracted meeting in the Christian Church at this place, on Friday evening before the 2nd Lord's day in May.

C. A. Webster has commenced laying brick on his new business house.

Mrs. Devers has taken the old Harrison Hotel, and we understand that it will be in full blast as soon as Craigmyle takes his place in the office.

J. Reneker, Jr., bought, last Monday several lots of cattle and hogs. He is one of the most enterprising traders and farmers in Harrison. Hogs are quoted at 61-2 to 7c; cattle 7-14 to 7-12.

C. Carpenter & Bro., have received the contract for building a new banking house in Cynthiana. We understand that they are to finish the building by the 1st of November, for $16,000. It will be a beautiful stone front two stories high.

In the letter of Mr. J. W. Lucas, declining an acceptance of the candidacy for the Legislature, in this county, we made him say, "there are many who will prove more acceptable than me." It should have read "than myself."

Next Friday, the circus will be in Cynthiana, and a good time generally is anticipated by the circus-going people. It is said to be a good thing, but good or bad, we advise everybody to come to town, buy a new suit of clothes, subscribe for the "News" and then after taking a drink of tanglefoot, if they have any money left, go and see the hump-backed cannibal.

Harrison county, April 27, '67. Mr. Morey:—Sir, I received a letter from G. W. McKim, stating that Mrs. Watters of Boone county, Ky., gave birth to four boys, about a year ago, and they are all living and hearty. She is the mother of three more and is a friend of the "faithful."

H. J. Baker.

The livery stable of Hill & Firman, of this place, was relieved of a fine riding horse some two or three weeks ago, by a horse thief named Jno. Q. Yeazel, of Fleming County. The horse has been reclaimed by the owners.

Lost—On Thursday night last, between the residences of Judge Curry and I. T. Martin, a clasp purse, containing thirty-one dollars and a half in greenbacks, and a note of hand payable to Miss Jult. Woolyard, for four hundred and eighty-two dollars and nineteen cents. We hope the finder of this purse will feel it a duty to return it to Miss Woolyard, as it comprises her entire worldly estate. The finder will be liberally rewarded.

On last Sunday morning, Mr. David Metcalf, of Jacksonville, Bourbon county, a very respectable citizen, visited his friend, Mr. Smith, a near neighbor, and on his return home stopped in his front yard, and hung himself to a locust tree, in the presence of his family, consisting of five little girls. The screams and cries of the little ones, brought the neighbors in, but too late to save him. We have not learned the cause of the rash act.

The execution of Jno. Curry, on Friday next, for the murder of his father Nick Broadwell, has been suspended by the Court of Appeals, until his appeal from the judgment of the criminal court, refusing him a new trial, can be had. If the court of Appeals reverse the decision of Judge Arthur, the case will again be tried in the criminal court next September. If, on the other hand, they affirm the decision of our criminal court, the Governor, will immediately appoint a day for the execution, and send the death-warrant to the Sheriff, which, in all probability, will take place sometime in June.

Kentontown, April 23, '67.

Mr. Editor:—

There came to this place, yesterday morning, about 6 o'clock, a genteel looking young man, and remained about the store of A. J. Ashcraft, until 12 o'clock, when he left and went behind a small house near by, and shot himself with a pistol in the right ear. He lived until about 12 o'clock last night. He left nothing by which we can ascertain who he is or where he came from. There was a paper in his carpet sack with the names of Dunkirk, Westville, Kingsville, Danville, Cleveland, Grafton, Cynthiana, Flemingsburg, and several other places that I could not make out. There was the name of H. E. Boswell, written with a pencil on a paper collar box. He got his breakfast below this place. While they were preparing his breakfast, he was engaged in reading the Bible, and was seen near here in a fence corner reading the Bible. He made enquiries of several persons how far it was to Flemingsburg. He is about 5 feet 3 or 10 inches high, dark hair, blue eyes. He told young Ashcraft that he lived about 50 miles from here. He looks to be about 22 or 23 years old. I sent a list of the articles to the clerk's office. I would be glad that you would publish this, with a request that the Cincinnati and Maysville papers will also give it an insertion. He may have friends that would like to know what had become of him.

Yours truly,

Duncan Harding.

According to previous notice, the young ladies and gentlemen of this section observed Friday the 26th inst. by improving and embellishing the graves of our friends who fell in the "lost cause." The day was pleasant, and the meeting agreeable. Flowers, at this season of the year, are not very plentiful, in this region, yet, a very fair display was made and each grave received a good supply of flowers and proper attention.

"Bring flowers to crown the cup and life.
Bring flowers to soothe the captive's cell.
Bring flowers to strew the bier!"

Such as were to be had, were devoted freely to our friends, who have "gone to that other and better world."

The ladies, God bless them, were there, and well did they perform their part. They have, at all times, been foremost in all good acts, and too much cannot be said in their praise. The assertion "that woman was the best gift of God to man," is a truth, which is seen and learned in our every day life, and her influence is perceptible in all that tends towards making our sojourn here pleasant and tolerable.

"The world was sad—the garden was a wild,
And man, the hermit, sighed—till woman smiled."

The following named ladies and little misses, were at the cemetery:

The Misses Neal Woodyard, Julia Woodyard, Sue Woodyard, Lizzie Martin, Nanrie Anderson, of Leesburg, Bettie Frazer, Maggie and Julia Beal, Annie Day, Lizzie Woodward, Nellie Frazer, Ida Withers, Jennie Oxley, Laura Estep, of Covington, Ada and Ann Desha, Miss Beck Anderson, Miss Rutherford and Mrs. N. E. Gribbon.

The following gentlemen were in attendance:

Mr. H. S. Shannon, Joel Rankin, E. S. Flanagan, and several gentlemen from Paris, among whom we noticed Matt. Turney, Esq., George Hibler and Dr. Cushing.

We understand that another meeting will take place about the last of this month, when flowers are in full bloom.

The Democracy of the Cynthiana precinct are invited to assemble in convention, at the Court House in Cynthiana, on Saturday the 4th of May, at 3 o'clock, P. M. to select delegates to attend the Convention on the 2nd Monday in June to nominate a candidate for the Legislature.

By order B. F. Dills,
J. Cronwell,
E. W. Martin,
Committee.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

BLUE GRASS FARM FOR SALE.

The farm on which I now reside is for sale. It is situated four miles south of Cynthiana, half a mile from Fair Station, on the K. C. R. R., at which point there is a post office, express office, depot, saw mill and two excellent grist mills that manufacture the best quality of flour and meal. It is within 3 hours ride of Cincinnati and Lexington. It contains about 175 acres, one hundred acres well timbered. The remainder cleared and in the highest state of cultivation. The fencing all in good order. The improvements consist of a comfortable dwelling, partly frame and partly log, weatherboarded and plastered and painted, containing six rooms, kitchen and all necessary out buildings, including two large stables, (with lots for feed) large enough to hold and feed 75 mules at a time which can be done without going out of doors, as there is large wide feed rooms extending the whole length of the stables, in which there is a cutting box run by horse power, with capacity and strength enough to cut a large quantity of provender in a short time. There is also a young orchard of select fruit of various kind now bearing. The farm is supplied with abundance of pure water for all purposes, as there is upon it a number of never failing springs (some of them near the dwelling) and South Licking which runs along one side of it. Any one wishing to purchase such a farm, would do well to call and examine for themselves. The place will be sold for a reasonable price, the money made easy, and if desired a part of the money can be run a considerable length of time at moderate interest.

I also desire to sell 100 acres of land which lies in Lewis county, Missouri. Said land is situated about 12 miles from Palmyra on the road leading from there to Monticello, and about 16 miles from the Mississippi river, about one half of it timbered with the finest white oak, the balance prairie of good quality, a little rolling and dry, is in a good neighborhood, and is surrounded by old settlers and finely improved farms. There is a large handsome brick church and school house in sight of the land. Also, a small village and post office near by. Price reasonable, payments easy and made to suit the ability and convenience of purchasers. For further particulars call on Announcing the adoption of a Meter for Distilleries.

Treasury Department,
Office Internal Revenue,
Washington, D. C., April 19, '67

NOTICE is hereby given that the Secretary of the Treasury has adopted and prescribed for use in distilleries, a meter invented by Isaac P. Tice, of N. Y., and that regulations for the use of such meters will be issued in a few days. Each collector will notify every distiller to make payment of the special tax for the year ending May 1, 1868, that he will not be allowed to continue in operation after the 15th day of May, unless he shall, before that time, have made application for a meter, and accompanied his application with adequate security for the payment of the necessary expense, which will probably vary, according to the size of the distillery, from six hundred to fifteen hundred dollars.

State of New York. County of New York, January 26, 1867. Charles Taylor, President, and C. C. Hine, Secretary, of the International Insurance Company, to me personally known, do hereby certify that they are said officers, and that the foregoing is a true, full and correct statement of the affairs of said company on the 31st day of December, 1866; that said Company is the bona fide owner of one million dollars cash capital, and four hundred and forty-four thousand, nine hundred and thirty-six dollars and seventeen cents surplus, invested as above, all of which is the absolute property of said company, free and clear from all liens and claims thereon, except as above stated, (and as may be necessary for a "reinsurance fund," according to the best of their knowledge, information and belief respectively.

CHARLES TAYLOR, President. C. C. HINE, Secretary. Sworn to and subscribed the date last above written, before me. CHARLES S. SETTLETON, Commissioner for the State of Kentucky. Auditor's Office. Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 1, 1867. I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original on file in this office.

In witness whereof, I have set my hand and affixed my official seal, (sgn.) the day and year above written. W. T. SAMUELS, Auditor.

Auditor's Office. Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 1, 1867. This is to certify, that Walker Buckner, as Agent of the International Insurance Company, of New York, at Cynthiana, Harrison County, has filed in this office the reports, and exhibits required by the provisions of an act, entitled "An act to regulate agencies of Foreign Insurance Companies," approved March 3, 1866, and having been shown to the satisfaction of the undersigned that said Company is possessed of an actual capital of at least one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, as required by said act, the said Walker Buckner, as Agent, is hereby licensed to transact business of insurance at his office, in Cynthiana, for the term of one year from the date hereof. But this license may be revoked if it shall be made to appear to the undersigned that, since the filing of said statements above referred to, the available capital of said Company has been reduced below one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

In testimony whereof, I have set my hand the day and year above written. W. T. SAMUELS, Auditor. WALKER BUCKNER, District Agent. J. T. ASHBROOK, Ass't Agent.

LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS!

The Great Female Remedy for Irregularities!!!

I HAVE tested these Drops in my own practice, over ten years, and do not hesitate to say, that nothing has yet been developed by medical research, that acts so powerfully, positively and harmlessly, in cases of female irregularity, as does this medicine. In all recent cases it never fails, while thousands who have long suffered, are indebted to it for the boon of health to-day. Although so powerful and positive, they perfectly harmless, and may be used at all times, except when specially forbidden in the directions. They have been extensively employed by eminent physicians in France and England, as well as in my own practice, over ten years, and I have yet to hear of the first instance of failure. I could give you testimonials of their efficacy from ladies all over the Northern and North Western States, were they not in their nature, private. Over 100,000 bottles have been sold the last year, and I hope and trust as many sufferers have been benefited. I am well aware that a remedy so potent to remove all obstructions, may be used for a bad purpose, but trust that when one bottle is thus used, ten may fall into the hands of really needy sufferers.

To all who suffer from any irregularity; painful, difficult, excessive, or obstructed menstruation, Leucorrhoea, or the train of diseases that follow, I would say, try a bottle of Dr. Lyon's French Periodical Drops. Being a fluid preparation, their action is more direct and positive than any pills or powders. Explicit directions, bearing my facsimile, accompany each bottle. They may be obtained of nearly every druggist in the country, or by enclosing the price to C. G. Clark & Co., New Haven, Ct. General agents for the United States and Canada. DR. JOHN L. LYON, Practising Physician, New Haven, Ct. Price $1.50 per Bottle. March 28-4t
